

Dheeraj Kohli
Vice President and Global Head of Travel and Transportation
Unisys

Dheeraj Kohli is Vice President and Global Head of Travel and Transportation at Unisys, where he oversees the assessment of existing services, leads the development of new industry solution offerings, and sets the strategic vision for the company's well-established travel and transportation business. An accomplished senior executive and global leader with over 27 years of experience, Dheeraj has a strong and unique blend of corporate, consulting, technology, and outsourcing experience. He has worked with some of the leading Fortune 500 brands across industry sectors, including railroads, airlines, airports, logistics, hospitality, and aviation.

Dheeraj is a recognized thought leader on concepts such as the connected traveler, seamless passenger, and customer experience, as well as around industry-specific solutions and disruptive technologies including IoT, wearables, mobility, beacons, cloud, big data, predictive analytics, and the "art of the possible." His experience includes work in the cargo, passenger, airport, railroad, and hospitality industries.