

Gwendalyn M. Maginnis, DVM,
Nonhuman Primate Specialist
USDA-APHIS Center for Animal Welfare

Dr. Maginnis received her Bachelor of Science in Veterinary Medicine in 1994 and her Doctorate in Veterinary Medicine in 1996, both from the University of California (UC), Davis. While in veterinary school, Dr. Maginnis studied in the zoological medicine track and participated in internships at the Los Angeles and Woodland Park Zoos and worked as a volunteer at the Sacramento Zoo. After graduating, she received her Primate Residency Certificate from the California National Primate Research Center in 1998. Before joining the USDA-APHIS staff, Dr. Maginnis worked for 7 years supporting GLP toxicology work at WIL Research Laboratories, LLC. Prior to this, she spent 10 years in the Division of Animal Resources for the Oregon National Primate Research Center at Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU). During her tenure at OHSU she served in different capacities including Chief of the Clinical Medicine Unit, Acting Head of the Division of Animal Resources, and as Attending Veterinarian.